

A fairy story where a girl is rescude by the fairy after she is abducted by a demon

This girl is taken care of by a girl named Shiho and she has some kind of magical ability, which she is able to use to help her escape.

The main plot of the manga revolves around the girl named "Beryl", who is able to use magical powers to return her body back to her family and save her from being kidnapped by the demon.

The main characters are the main protagonists, each with their own unique magical ability, which is why they have been described as "sorcerers of the moon".

Trivia [edit]

The character's name is spelled "Beryl" as opposed to "Beryl" in the manga.

Beryl has a very low chance of being killed by a demon.

The story about the girl named "Beryl" is a bit confusing to read because it is all about a girl who is kidnapped by a demon and has her left arm ripped off and her left leg broken off.

The heroine of the story is the name of the character from Final Fantasy.

In the first part of the chapter where the girl is rescued, the heroine's name is spelled "Beryl".

The heroine of the chapter where the girl is rescued is the
